Prerequisites: TP 2101; TP 2501

Course Description and Objectives

This course is a general survey of the Old Testament (OT) history, literature and theology. It is designed to give the student a basic knowledge of the contents of the OT with an emphasis on the literary artistry of the text. Students will be exposed to the various critical approaches to the study of the OT. This module focuses on Israel's origins (antecedents and beginnings), literary tools for OT study, the Pentateuch/Hexateuch, promise and covenant, exodus, the rise and development of the monarchy.

The course seeks to (i) encourage the student to read the OT; (ii) provide an introduction to historical-critical and literary interpretive methods that have been employed in contemporary scholarship for evaluating and communicating the meaning of the texts; and (iii) help the student acquire competent exegetical skills for teaching and preaching.
